Foreword

We sincerely hope that all of you can see, while thumbing through this book, many reflections of your happy hours spent here at Itawamba Junior College and Agricultural High School.

Follow the Indians throughout the book to see glimpses of the high spots of the year. We know you will enjoy the work of our artists.

Let us all give Mr. Duvall Heflin a special vote of thanks for the excellent design on the cover of our 1953-1954 Mirror.

By the addition of territory, the increase in the number of students and faculty members, the additions to the physical plant, the increase in enrollment, and the development of its curriculum, Itawamba Junior College is attempting to keep step with the rapid development of its territory, Itawamba, Lee, Monroe, and Pontotoc Counties. Continuation of the fine spirit of cooperation among teachers, students, and pratrons of the area will enable this institution to be of even more service to the supporting area than it has in the past.

I wish to congratulate the staff of The Mirror upon the fine piece of work represented by this publication. I am sure that the fond memories of this year by many students will be a rich reward for the time and labor you have spent in producing this publication.

Sincerely yours,

JS Crubaugh

HIGH SCHOOL

The total value of your high school experience cannot be measured simply by checking the marks on your monthly or yearly reports. To place a true value on some of the experiences such as character and leadership, one may have to wait until next year, or until the time when your family, community, state or nation can have the opportunity to see your life as an individual citizen of your country. Or it may be, that future generations will have to assess the true value of your contributions to humanity if you develop to the extent of your potentialities. May it be said of you when the final chapter of your life has been written that your contribution was commensurate to your ability.

We as teachers have benefited by our association with you. Our having shared in your happiness and growth, troubles and sorrows, has left a mark on us. Our remuneration is not altogether in dollars and cents.

You may have to pass on to posterity part of the responsibilities which this present generation will leave to you. Let it not be said that you, with your training and background, did not eliminate some of the evils, solve some of the problems, and in general, leave a better place in which to live.

To live successfully in the days that lie ahead will require an abundance of faith. More, I think, than any past generation has had to exercise. More, may I say, than you will be able to exercise to the exclusion of Him who will gladly grant the increase. But, look to Him for sufficient faith and take the experience of the past, the opportunities of the present, and the hope of the future; and determine by the help of God to make this world a better place in which to live.

Dexter Digby.

The opaque projector is used to project onto a screen any nontransparent flat picture.

The motion picture compels attention.

One advantage of a filmstrip is that it is inexpensive.
